

HACKED WIFE TO PIECES WITH AXE

BRUTAL MURDER IN NEW ENGLAND TOWN

Husband Notified Police and Suicided—Drink Cause of the Crime.

(Times Leased Wire.)
New Bedford, Mass., July 26.—Lying in ambush for his wife last night, killing her and hacking her body to pieces with a tomahawk, Robert E. Fanning, a wealthy resident of Westport, east of the murdered corpse into the bushes beside a lonely road, returned home and wrote a sensational letter, signed in his automobile to the police station here, delivered the written confession of his crime to an officer and then blew off the top of his head with a revolver shot. Drink is believed to have been responsible for the horrible tragedy, as Fanning was half-crazed from a prolonged debauch.

Fanning spent the night in composing a letter to the police. Early today he got into his automobile and came to New Bedford. Meeting friends and acquaintances, he chatted gaily with them and none suspected that anything was wrong. He took his machine to a garage and left detailed instructions regarding its care. After attending to several business matters of minor importance, the man walked to the police station with his letter.

Startled by the contents of the sensational confession of murder, Lieut. Comstock asked: "What do you want me to do about this?"

"Just this," quickly replied Fanning, as he placed the muzzle of a revolver in his mouth and fired, blowing away the top of his head.

In his letter to the police, Fanning declared he was sorry for what had occurred and praised his wife's beauty and good qualities. He said that he loved his baby better than himself and hoped that she would receive proper care. In an attempt at justification for his terrible deed, the murderer declared that he "had a great deal to contend with." "I would like for my baby to join us but, cruel as I am, I have not the heart for such," he wrote.

EIGHT CROWDED INTO BOAT BUILT FOR THREE

Result Was Its Capsizing and the Loss of Four Lives.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Billings, Mont., July 26.—A small boat containing eight persons was capsized in the Yellowstone river, two miles south of here, yesterday afternoon and four of the occupants were drowned.

The party had started out for a picnic, under the direction of John Starfell, a Montana pioneer, who was dragged to his death when the boat overturned by three young girls who seized him. All four went down and perished in the swift waters. The girls were:

Minnie Waggoner, Pressie West, both aged 16, and a child six years old. Though the craft was capable of safely carrying only three persons, eight picnickers got into the boat. When it was a few feet from the bank, one of the girls leaned over the side of the boat, causing it to upset. Four of the party managed to cling to the overturned craft and were rescued.

BASEBALL RUMOR

Chicago, July 26.—Baseball circles were stirred today by a rumor that Mike Donlin, the new manager of the Philadelphia Nationals, had secured Johnnie Kling, the hold-out catcher of the Cubs.

President Murphy of the National Club, declared that the report was absurd. "Kling must play with Chicago or not enter the game," he said. "There is nothing to the report." A despatch from Kansas City quotes Kling as saying the story is all rot.

FIRST AIRSHIP OVER CHANNEL

FRENCHMAN FLIES FROM CALAIS TO DOVER

Won Daily Mail's Prize—Aeroplane Travelled Sixty Miles an Hour.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Dover, Eng., July 26.—Counting as naught the prize of £5,000 sterling awarded him for crossing the English channel in an aeroplane, Louis Bleriot, the French aviator, declared today that he most enjoyed the honor of being the first man to accomplish the feat.

Bleriot's flight was made in one of the smallest monoplanes ever constructed, and is the topic of conversation throughout the British Empire today.

Starting from Les Banques, France, at 4:30 a.m., the aviator landed at Dover at 4:55 a.m., the average speed of the flight being sixty miles an hour, which is twice as fast as the swiftest mail boat over the distance covered, 22 miles.

Declaring that he was through with aeroplanes, having promised his wife that he would fly no more, Bleriot today told the story of his achievement.

"It is more important to be the first man to cross the English channel by aeroplane than to have won the prize of £5,000," said Bleriot. "Nevertheless, I must first acknowledge the Daily Mail's recognition of the importance of aviation in offering a prize, which I have had the honor to win. I am glad I won it. This aeroplane is my eleventh."

"At 4:30 a.m. we could see all around. At 4:35 a.m. I was ready. I lit the engine, the signal. In an instant I was in the air, my engine making 1,200 revolutions almost its highest speed, in order that I may get quickly over the telegraph wires along the edge of the cliff."

"I began my flight steady and sure toward the coast of England. I had no apprehensions, no sensations at all. The torpedo boat destroyer in attendance saw me and began driving alongside at full speed. She made forty-two kilometers an hour. I was making at least sixty-eight. Rapidly I overtook her, traveling at a height of eighty metres (about 260 feet). I drove on. Ten minutes have gone and I have passed the destroyer. I turn my head to see whether I am proceeding in the right direction. I am amazed. There is nothing to be seen, neither the torpedo destroyer nor France nor England. I am alone. I can see nothing at all."

"For ten minutes I am lost. It is a strange position to be in, alone and unguided, without compass, in the air over the middle of the channel. I touch nothing, my hands and feet rest lightly on the levers. I let the aeroplane take its own course. For ten minutes I continue, neither rising nor falling nor turning. Then twenty minutes after I left the French coast I see the white cliffs of Dover."

"I fly westward, hoping to cross the harbor and reach Shakespeare's cliff. Again the wind blows. I see an opening in the cliffs. Although I am confident I can continue for an hour and a half, that I might indeed return to Calais, I cannot resist the opportunity to make a landing upon this green spot. Once more I turn my aeroplane, and in describing a half circle, I enter the opening and find myself again over dry land. I stop my motor. Instantly my machine descends straight upon the land from a height of twenty meters. In two or three seconds I am safe upon my shore."

"The flight could be easily done again. Shall I do it? I think not. 'I have promised my wife that after the race for which I have entered, I will fly no more.'"

Reciprocity.
London, July 26.—Baron de Forst has offered a prize of £20,000 to the first British aeronaut to cross the channel in a British-built aeroplane in record time.

She was noted for her beauty, her charm and the splendor of her entertainments. She several years later married Philip P. Dandridge, a member of a prominent Virginia family, who died 25 years ago. Her sister, Sarah Knox Taylor, was the first wife of Jefferson D.

SIX KILLED AND MANY INJURED

TRAIN PLUNGED INTO THE MISSOURI RIVER

Track Sank Beneath Weight of Cars—Another Wreck in Indiana.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Kansas City, Mo., July 26.—When a Wabash passenger train plunged into the Missouri river, 30 miles east of here, last night, six lives were lost and 36 other passengers were injured, several perhaps fatally. All of the dead and injured are eastern people.

The train left Kansas City Saturday night and was composed of eight cars, all of which are now in the river. For several days flood waters had been undermining the roadbed, which parallels the river. When the passenger train started across the weakened roadbed, fifty feet of the track suddenly sank under the weight and the train rolled into the river.

Dr. Turner Lohveck, a woman physician of St. Louis, was the heroine of the wreck. In thirty minutes she gave medical aid to 27 injured persons, several women passengers making bandages of their skirts.

Bad Wreck in Indiana.
Indianapolis, Ind., July 26.—In the wreck of a south-bound Big Four passenger train at Zionsville, Ind., yesterday, 42 persons were injured. All but six passengers, who were brought to hospitals in Indianapolis, were able to continue to their destinations.

The baggage car and the coaches behind it left the track while the train was running at high speed. Several coaches were derailed and overturned.

NEW INDUSTRY MAY BE STARTED

YARN MANUFACTURED FROM RAMIE GRASS

Process Owned by Yorkshire Firm to Be Tried at Albion.

There is a possibility that the old pulp mill at Albion may be utilized for a new purpose, and that of great industry may spring up there, in which Victoria would stand to be a large gainer. There has just been formed the Vancouver Ramie Syndicate, which will test the process owned by John Philipson & Son, Yorkshire linen manufacturers, for the manufacture of ramie, or china grass, which grows abundantly in India, China and the Malay peninsula.

Among the members of the syndicate are Herbert Carmichael, provincial assayer, and H. S. Ashton, of this city; the latter being secretary, and several Vancouver merchants. After the process has been demonstrated to be successful a company will be formed to manufacture ramie yarns and cloths. The Messrs. Philipson will be out here in about three weeks, when it is expected that five tons of the raw material will have been received from the Orient for treatment at Albion.

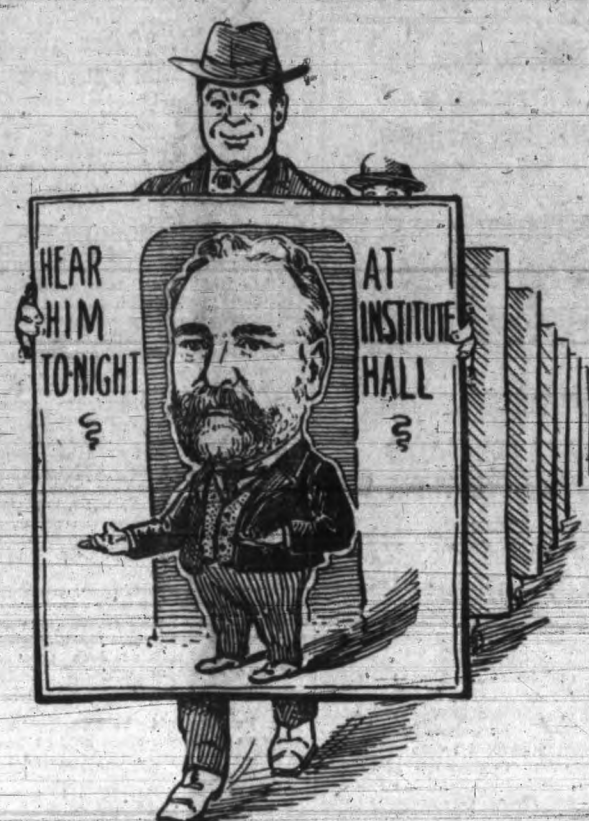

Ramie is at present manufactured in Germany and France, and on a small scale in England. The goods have a silky shine, and are proof against damage by water, and atmospheric conditions. It is used for ladies' dress goods, muslin, curtains, upholstery, table cloths, napkins, lace, hosiery, underwear, ribbons, gas mantles, fine cords for yachts and sailing vessels, fishing nets and lines, fire hose, galloids, etc. The cloth is susceptible of a fine finish, and because of its strength is used for such a variety of purposes. The tensile strength as compared with other fibres is said to be as follows: Ramie, 100; hemp, 25; silk, 12; cotton, 12.

The location at Albion is chosen because of its water power facilities and the pure water that is available, the latter being requisite in bleaching. The island is, moreover, favorably situated for the establishment of such a industry, being on the highway of commerce.

DROWNED IN SIGHT OF A PICNIC PARTY

(Times Leased Wire.)
Seattle, July 26.—Lake Washington, in the vicinity of Madison Park, is being dragged today for the body of Jesse W. Blissett, of Hillman City, who lost his life yesterday while attempting to give aid to a young woman whom he thought to be in danger. The drowning occurred within 30 feet of shore and in sight of several members of a picnic party.

Seeing a young woman pushing a raft about near the shore of the lake, and believing her to be in peril of her life, Blissett started to the rescue in a canoe. Before he had gone far a squall arose and his frail craft was overturned. Unable to swim Blissett sank for the last time just as some of the men from the shore reached his side.

FEDERAL MINISTER SHOWS DEEP INTEREST

Hon. W. Pugsley Is Alive to the Needs of Victoria —Is Giving Consideration to Dry Dock
and Harbor Improvements.

This morning about 10 o'clock Hon. William Pugsley, accompanied by Hon. William Templeman, met the members of the board of trade in the board of trade rooms and discussed with him a number of subjects of which Victorians are particularly interested. Among these was the deepening of the harbor, the building of a breakwater at the outer docks, the opening of the E. & N. bridge to traffic and providing better appliances for opening the bridge, the building of a dock and the settlement of the Indian reserve question. On all these questions Mr. Pugsley showed that he was already well informed, and he stated that Hon. Wm. Templeman had again and again pressed most of the matters referred to upon his colleagues at Ottawa. Mr. Pugsley assured the board that the Dominion government were anxious to do all they could for Vancouver Island as long as they were sure that the money would be well expended in the interests of the whole country.

In introducing the minister of public works, Simon Leiser, president of the board of trade, extended to him a hearty welcome on behalf of the members. He congratulated him on the work accomplished by the dredges. He said that the work of improving the harbor was going on for a number of years, but the best work had been done within the last 12 months. Since Mr. Pugsley had taken office it had been decided to deepen the channel at the entrance to the harbor to 20 feet at low water, and the upper harbor to a depth of 25 feet. The work would be of a permanent character. Many steamers were passing in and out of the harbor. Just now 2,000 people were entering and going out every day. There were one or two rocks that needed moving near the Brackman & Keefe wharf. The steam drill had done considerable work. This plant was no up to date, however, and he thought would soon have to be replaced by a modern plant.

Mr. Leiser said it was proposed to build a breakwater at the outer dock. The harbor was easy of access and there was plenty of room for vessels of any size. Another improvement to the harbor was a proposal to dredge out a new channel around Pelly islands. He advised a thorough survey being made before this work was started.

"We have a great shipping port here," said Mr. Leiser, "and we want all coast steamers to be able to come in. We want a safe harbor."

E. & N. Bridge.
Mr. Leiser then referred to the E. & N. bridge, which he said had not grown the present business. There should be a motor power to open and shut it and a tower for the man who was on watch.

Referring to the closing of the railway bridge by the E. & N. Railway Company he said it was a great inconvenience to the people who were at particular hardship to Turpel's shipyard.

With regard to the Indian reserve, Mr. Leiser said they were sorry that so far they were unable to get it removed. Mr. Templeman had done all he could. (Mr. Pugsley: "Hear, hear.") He hoped Mr. Pugsley would work with him to help remove the Indians. If the railway company would allow them to cross the bridge they would take their visitor across to see the reserve. Then he would see the justice of their request.

Referring to the need of a transcontinental railway terminal on the Island, Mr. Leiser said this was one of the great things they needed. They had the coal and timber, a great whaling station on the West Coast, and this port was the second in Canada so far as tonnage was concerned. All steamers from the Orient entered and cleared here.

When Sir Thomas Shaughnessy was here he spoke to him about the place. He then said this was a great island, one of the best places in the world to live, and if he was a young man he would settle here.

The matter of a new drydock was also set forth by the president of the Board of Trade. He said they would take Mr. Pugsley to Esquimalt this afternoon to see the old dock. He hoped the minister would come here again every year. They realized the good work the Dominion government was doing and hoped it would be continued.

MINISTER REPLIES.

Hon. Wm. Pugsley, in replying, expressed his appreciation of the opportunity of visiting the magnificent province of British Columbia. He felt it his duty to take the first opportunity of visiting the Pacific coast. He came to see how the works they were doing out here were going on; to see the needs of the harbors and other departments, and to see how best to develop this section of the country. He was here to learn and he would be glad to receive any information they could give him.

Mr. Templeman, he said, had for some time been urging that more plant should be used in the harbor here. As a result the Ajax was put on and the Fruhling had been purchased for the work on the Fraser river. He had already discussed the matter of a new dredging plant with Mr. Keefe, who was a first class man.

CRAZED MAN KILLED WIFE AND HIMSELF

Fired at His Mother-in-Law,
But Her Fainting Saved
Her.

(Times Leased Wire.)
Butte, Mont., July 26.—Brooding over fancied wrongs for weeks until his mind became unbalanced, Phil O'Connell, who came here recently from Boston, shot and killed his wife, fired two shots at his mother-in-law and then killed himself yesterday.

O'Connell purchased the revolver Saturday and, showing the weapon to his wife and her mother, told them he intended to make a "big bang" for his family. Police headquarters were notified but no officer was sent to investigate.

Yesterday evening the crazed man returned to his home and, warning his mother-in-law to "take a look" at the revolver, fired a shot at her. Just as the weapon was discharged the woman fainted from terror, thus saving her life. O'Connell then entered an adjoining room and shot to death his sick wife, after which he ran from the house and sent a bullet through his own brain.

Navy Yard, Puget Sound, Wash., July 26.—Claiming the world's record for consecutive steaming, the British steamer Headley, Capt. Wm. Butler, arrived at the navy yard yesterday with a cargo of coal, 88 days from Newport News. From the time the steamer left Newport News at 6 p. m. on May 18th until she arrived inside Cape Flattery her engines have not slowed down or stopped, her officers say. They claim that previous to her departure they looked up previous records, and that the performance of the Headley on this trip eclipses them all.

VIGILANCIA LIES AT BOTTOM OF HUDSON

Rushed to Port With Cargo on Fire, Threatening Life of Passengers.

(Times Leased Wire.)
New York, July 26.—The Ward line steamer Vigilancia today lies at the bottom of the Hudson river almost a total loss, as the result of a fire which smoldered in her hold and ended only when she settled on the bottom of the river. The vessel was valued at $450,000 and the cargo at $50,000.

The fire was discovered out at sea late yesterday afternoon, while 24 passengers from Nassau, Santiago and Manzanillo and a crew of forty men were on board. The hatches were battened down and, while the crew attempted to quench the blaze, the vessel was sent full speed ahead for her pier at Brooklyn.

The passengers and baggage were landed safely and the fire boats began to pour water into the burning hold, but were unable to extinguish the flames.

Holy Book of Local Colony Moved Yes-

Yesterday afternoon the Hindu popu-ed to be regarded by them as a very solemn ceremony. It was the removal of the holy book of their religion from the quarters used as a temple on Johnson street to new quarters off Herald street.

The book was placed on a cushion covered with Indian silk, elaborately worked. Placed on a back under the contody of one of the members. It was driven to the new temple. With weird Oriental music played to the accompaniment of what by grace might be called musical instruments, the Hindu colony followed the back slowly along the streets.

The holy book on its cushion was borne on the head of the leader to its new resting place.

HON. WILLIAM PUGSLEY
DELIVERS ADDRESS

Minister of Public Works
Pleased With Conditions
in West.

The Canadian Club this afternoon entertained as its guest Hon. Wm. Pugsley, minister of public works for the Dominion of Canada. He was supported on either side by the officers of the club, and at the same table were Hon.
William Templeman, Senator Macdonald,
Ralph Smith, M. P., and G. H.
Barclay, M. P., and a number of other prominent citizens. After partaking of a sumptuous lunch the speaker was introduced by the president, A. E. Mc-Phillips.

Mr. McPhillips spoke of the prominent position Hon. Dr. Pugsley had attained. He had charge of the great spending department of the government. He thought they would not approach the minister for what they wanted without avail, but what they asked for would receive the assent of the government at Ottawa.

Hon. Dr. Pugsley said he much appreciated the honor of being asked to address the Canadian Club, especially as he was assured it was composed of the best of Victoria's citizens. He appreciated the welcome they had given him, which he took as both personal and also as an appreciation of the government of which he was a member.

Dr. Pugsley said he had received many hard knocks since he had been in public life, but he had received the most hearty reception from members of both parties. He desired to say in all sincerity that he had received as enthusiastic a welcome as any man could wish for from members of both parties.

The speaker said he did not think Victoria had any ailments. She was strong and hearty but only have some need of help from the department over which he presided.

Referring to transportation facilities
the speaker said it was of enormous importance that there should be cheap transportation.

If the cost of transportation was low it left a larger reasonable profit for the producer. In his department he was concerned with the building of railways and canals, and the improvement of harbors. Parliament placed a good many million dollars at his disposal each year and it was his duty to look over the country and see where the money could best be spent. The visit had been a revelation to him. On his last trip to the coast there had been a cloud of adversity over the whole west. Where there was then adversity he now found prosperity. Vancouver at that time had only 25,000 inhabitants, but to-day it had nearly 100,000. In Victoria he found substantial progress. There were evidences of prosperity and confidence here which spoke well for the city.

Mr. Pugsley then spoke of the duty of the different parts of the Empire in the question of defence. At present two of his colleagues were discussing this matter in London.
"The supremacy of the Empire must be sustained," said the speaker. When the results of the deliberations were made known he felt sure they would meet with the approval of the country.

One of the first works to be attended to would be the building of docks to accommodate the Canadian fleet which they were going to have. (Applause.)
The drydock at Esquimalt was too small, and he hoped it would be his duty soon to announce that a large new dock would be built here. (Applause.)

While he was prepared to support a policy of defence he hoped the people would not demand so much that they would not be able to attend to the reasonable development work in railways, canals and harbors. By developing the country they would give encouragement to hundreds of thousands to come to the country and settle. The seven million people, he thought, would soon be increased to fifteen or twenty million people. This would do a great deal toward helping in the defence of the old flag.

In regard to the aspirations of Victorians in the matter of development
Mr. Pugsley said he was much pleased with what he had seen of Victoria harbor. If he did his duty, and he intended to do it, he said the harbor would soon be in a position to accommodate any medium-sized vessels. At the outer harbor he felt from what he saw the requirements of the shipping company here that there was need of greater development. While he made no promises, he thought if they could show him that the trade would increase as a result, the expenditure asked at that point would be made.
Every reasonable request made by the people of British Columbia would always receive the consideration of the government, for the development of this province meant the enriching of the whole Dominion. He asked them to come to the heart of Canada and let them know what their wants were,
and their request would always receive the sympathetic consideration of the East.

In regard to having a transcontinental railway connection with this city, he urged the people here if they had faith in the proposition, to continue to push it forward. He saw no insuperable difficulty in having the National Transcontinental Railway extend its connection from the north end of Vancouver Island to this city. He saw no reason why the products of Alberta should not be shipped by way of Vancouver, Victoria and other ports on the Pacific.

He had it on the authority of those who had investigated that the production of wheat this year would be 140,000,000 bushels of wheat. This city was within 1,000 miles of the heart of the Prairie provinces. The other developments, such as the Tehuantepec railway and the Panama canal, would revolutionize the transportation problems of the American continent. He felt sure Victoria would be alive to her opportunities and take part of this business.

Referring to the Songhees Indian reserve, the minister said the conditions
had been urged, and painted by Mr.
Templeman in as strong colors as possible. Now he had seen the condition for himself. The Indians were the wards of the nation. (Mr. Helmcken, "Hear, hear.") This had prevented their removing them by force. And yet, said he, the question must be solved. It was out of the question that they should be allowed to remain in their present position. It was a menace to the health and welfare of the city. He felt sure some action would be taken in the very near future for the removal of the tribe. He thanked them for the splendid reception they had given him.

At the conclusion of the address
Mayor Hall proposed, and Colonel Gregory seconded, a vote of thanks to the speaker. The minister and party then left for Esquimalt, where they are looking at the dry dock and the possibilities of Esquimalt harbor.

Washington, July 26.—President Taft is standing pat to-day for free hides.
He is determined to fight for his point and not be shaken from the position he has assumed.

"There is no change in the tariff situation," declared Senator Bristow,

terday," Frank Carpenter, private secretary to Mr. Taft, assured the press.
These two remarks sum up the whole

"I don't want the $250 offered for the second man in the machine," said Britt. "I would be glad to donate that to charity. All I want is a chance to make the trip, and I am going to get it if there is any way it can be worked."
"I am scheduled to fight Summers
Saturday, but I will cancel that engagement if it is going to interfere with my chances of making a flight in
M. Bleriot's aeroplane."

ALEXANDER SMITH PAYS VISIT TO WEST

Well Known Figure in Ontario is in Victoria.

Besides the minister of public works another prominent Ottawa man is visiting Victoria. He is Alex. Smith, of the legal firm of Smith & Johnston, and with his sister is making a leisurely tour of the farthest west.

Mr. Smith stands high in the ranks of the Liberal party, because he has been closely associated with its greatest triumphs. An organizer par excellence, his services were enlisted in Ontario in several campaigns, and were transferred to the federal field in 1896. In 1900 and 1904 he was still at the helm and has yet to taste the bitterness of defeat.

In 1896 Mr. Smith, who was as silent as the tomb during the heat of the campaign, emerged from the conning tower and permitted himself the luxury

ALEXANDER SMITH, OF OTTAWA.
A Successful Liberal Organizer in Ontario.

of an election prediction. It was the only one he made, and after making it he retired to his headquarters. Tories as was and as is still their wont were posting predictions all over the horizon like circus posters on a bill board. These did not disturb the Liberal organizer. His head was squarely on his shoulders and there was no sand in his eyes. His election prophecy was fulfilled almost to the very figure, and he never even indulged himself that sweetest of mortal compensations, "I told you so."

In Ottawa during the session, Mr. Smith is as busy as a member of parliament, and in parliamentary matters too. He has a large number of clients throughout the country who are interested in private bills and other legislation, and his duty is to look after their interest. If a visitor at the federal capital who is looking for Alex. Smith cannot find him in his office he should wend his way to the "Hill," and in one of the numerous committee gatherings he will find his man, easily distinguishable by his splendid physique and imperturbable manner.

Nothing disturbs Alex. Smith, or at least he never shows signs of disturbance. He is as inscrutable as the sphinx and yet he never misses a point in a political campaign. He does not get up on the fence like George Taylor, the chief Tory whip, flap his wings and crow before the fight; he doesn't even crow after the fight. He leaves the calcium and demonstrations to others and sticks to the conning tower.

Every few years he hies himself to the west. This time he took charge of a round-up, as he calls it, at Edmonton. Down in Montana he found one brother a rancher, in various parts of western Canada he located four others and five brothers and their sister held a family reunion. Those five brothers would make a fine advance guard for the Gordon Highlanders. They are all over six feet high and so big that they require lots of room. They hall from Bruce county, noted for its big men, to which big Bill Galtier, now of Vancouver, is first-class testimony.

Mr. Smith and his sister will remain in Victoria a day or two before returning by easy stages to the east.

LAWYERS FIGHT TWO ROUNDS IN COURTROOM

Former Judge and Prosecuting Attorney Have a Fist Fight.

Pendleton, Ore., July 26.—The hearing of the Warner-Young will case was enlivened when Judge James A. Fee, representing the contesting heirs, and Attorney D. W. Bailey, representing Mrs. Mable Warner, engaged in a knock-down and drag-out fight in the county court room. The fight lasted for two well-defined rounds. Despite the attempts of witnesses and the court officials to the contrary. The clashing attorneys were finally separated after the sheriff had been called. But little blood was shed, though two coats were torn and one dress ruined.

The attorneys had a dispute as to whether the two handwriting experts, Prof. W. W. Williams, of Portland, and Prof. H. C. Blair, of Spokane, should be allowed to remain in the court room during the progress of the trial. Judge Fee, in contending that they should be allowed to remain, accused the Mabel Warner forces of tampering with the contested Young will while in their possession. The attorneys hurled the "lie" at each other and the fight was on.

STREET DANGERS.

The tram car we have with us, and will have with us until we find something which will serve the same purpose and serve it better. It is one of the necessary evils of the times, and snuffs out a life occasionally—generally a young life, more the pity—just to teach us the necessity of moving with agility as well as caution in these days of rush and bustle. But because we have street cars and cannot get rid of them if we would is no reason why we should tolerate other street nuisances and dangers when we have the power to control them.

We notice that three or four eastern municipalities, giving up the task of controlling motor cars as hopeless, have excluded them absolutely from their bounds. That is a drastic remedy, but who shall say it cannot be justified? The reckless, criminal, red-eyed, furious chauffeur is the curse of the highway to-day. He is killing more people (for the greater part people who are foolish enough to trust their lives in his hands) than all the railways in operation. Thus far he has been able to defy all legal attempts to restrain his mad impetuosity. There is this to be said for him, that in all probability he generally does not realize the rate of speed at which he is travelling or the danger to which he is subjecting himself or his passengers. As for foot passengers who have the temerity to venture upon the highways of the land, it is their business to keep their eyes and their ears open and when they hear a "honk, honk," to jump, and jump lively. That is the most exhilarating part of the performance.

Now it is bad enough to have our streets ripped to fragments by these machines whose tractive power is in their wheels instead of in the feet of wholesome-smelling horses, but when the drivers of the vehicles defy, and boast of defying, all by-laws and regulations, it is time to deal with them drastically. Most of us know what has been going on between the city and the race track since the meet opened. There is not one car plying for hire which has not been driven at excessive speed, and has been a daily menace to life. It is not due to the drivers in question that lives have not been taken, but probably to a combination of luck and complaisance of drivers of other vehicles, who have naturally been quite ready to surrender their rights upon the highways in preference to risking the consequences. Such a condition of affairs is intolerable. We are glad to see the police are doing their best to put an end to the nuisance.

MAN'S LIMITATIONS.

At least man, with the aid of a machine, has flown across the English Channel. This is a feat worthy of record, notwithstanding the fact that the hero of the exploit met with a serious accident in the endeavor to bring his ship into port. If the successful aviator were not a Frenchman, his Majesty the Kaiser might be expected to order his attendance at Potsdam with a view to future contingencies. As Great Britain and France are at the present time on terms of the most cordial relationship, there need be no immediate fear of an invasion of perfidious Albion via the airship route. Nor any ultimate concern either unless great and unexpected progress be made in the art of aerial navigation. We have been told, and will be told again, doubtless, that it is not seemly to belittle the efforts of scientific men and brave demonstrators to overcome the natural forces of the universe and bend them to the purposes of mankind—that there were like failures in the beginning of everything, including the beginning of water navigation. To this we beg to take objection. Water navigation was a success from the beginning, principally because it recognized the puissance of natural laws and took advantage of them instead of running in antagonism to them. It is the nature of wood to float in water. It is the nature of wood to fall through the air. That is the difference, and it is also where the difficulty of the aerial navigator comes in. His difficulties are not lessened when he adds material even heavier than wood to his ship designed to skim through the air like a bird. It does not do in these days of wonderful things to prophesy. One never knows what may come to pass. But it does appear probable that the flying machine will ever become a thing of practical utility. It must necessarily be too light of structure, too greatly at the mercy of "every wind that blows," to make regular passages between given points. If man's ambitions cannot be satisfied short of flying through the air like a bird, the shortest way to reach his goal would appear to be to equip him with a pair of wings and a tail and let him shoot forth like the dove from the ark, trusting in providence to find in an emergency a rest for the soles of his feet. But, even in that case, there would still remain the vital question of engine power. The heart of man, notwithstanding his acknowledged general supremacy over all created things, is weak organ indeed compared with the heart of a bird. If you do not appreciate that fact, read the following noted in the New York Times, and be satisfied to move upon the surface of the earth: More than a mile a minute for more than nine consecutive hours was the record made by the fastest of the homing pigeons that flew on Monday from North Bay, Ont., to Baltimore. The air line distance is 510 miles and the time was nine hours seventeen minutes, but doubtless the birds flew considerably further than a straight course would have been; and presumably they stopped at least once or twice for food and water. If only the aeroplane could have such a motor as these pigeons possess! All the problems of aerial navigators would be quickly solved, and the Wrights and their rivals wouldn't have to wait for the rare hours of fainting zephyrs before making their timid and uncertain flights. It is a pity that birds have no sense of humor; if they did these would be days of hilarious enjoyment for the feathered tribes.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR.

The president of the United States, being the only estate of that great realm which is elected at a general election, as we understand the term general election, has great responsibilities thrust upon him sometimes. Occasionally a president acts in accordance with his tremendous responsibilities; generally he doesn't. President Taft seems determined to live up to his responsibilities in the present legislative clash at Washington. He has placed himself, practically, in the position a government majority at Ottawa or Westminster would occupy under similar circumstances. He is dictating the fiscal policy of the nation—and taunting a great buzzing in the two legislative beehives. He is undoing most of the work the two houses, led by Payne and Aldrich, have been toiling upon and talking about through the long hours of long, hot summer days—including the most sacred and hottest of days, the glorious fourth of July. The face of President Taft is jolly and rosy and smiling—but his back is broad, and behind that back is hidden the Big Stick belled "veto." The majority in both branches of Congress have scoffed at the idea that any pledge was given the people that the tariff should be revised downward, and have been diligently revising it upward. The president has taken issue with the majority. He plainly intimates that as far as he is concerned there were no mental reservations in his speeches. He meant precisely what he said when he told the people he was in favor of tariff revision downward—and one can understand as he reads of the scurrying to and fro between the White House and the Houses of Congress that the representatives of the trusts and monopolies at last realize that behind that fine, open, good-natured countenance there is an inflexible will. They have about reached the conclusion that it must either be a revision downward, with their consent, or the old Dingley tariff, without their consent. That appears to be the situation at Washington. The president is seized of his responsibilities. He is determined that the will of the people, as made plain in the presidential election, shall prevail as against the will of the trusts, as revealed in the attitude of the majority of Congress. The people of the United States apparently did not make any mistake when they chose Taft for President.

But if their electoral machinery were less cumbersome and complicated they would not at any time be dependent upon the will of one man for the means of consummating the popular will. The House of Representatives is elected in dribbles at intervals of two years. The Senate is elected in dribbles also by the state legislatures. The evident intention of the constitution is to guard against guests of popular passion and to insure something we hear a good deal about in our own local and national politics as a "continuous policy." The actual effect, as it appears to those who observe the phenomena from a distant and disinterested point of view, is to postpone reforms and perpetuate abuses for indefinite periods. Three times in the history of the United States there has been an unmistakable popular demand for revision of the tariff downward and for an end to the extortions made possible under that tariff. Twice Congress has defied popular sentiment and raised the tariff to higher altitudes. A third time the call went forth peremptorily for reform—and the creatures of the trusts in Congress were proceeding in the customary callous and indifferent way to carry out the suggestions of their masters—when a master of them all intervened and called a halt. If a completely new congress were elected every four or five years by popular vote such brazen defiance of the popular will would obviously be impossible.

But the fiscal movement is now in the right direction, although some narrow-minded politicians in the United States may think it is in the wrong direction because it will meet with the approval of foreign nations. The probability is that the effect of the reduction, slight though it may be, will be so visible in increased trade and augmented revenue that it will be followed by still more imperative demands for lessened taxation. Commercial intercourse between the United States and foreign nations will be stimulated, to the mutual benefit of buyer and seller, and the cause of international goodwill will be promoted. Possibly the name of Taft may be more deeply chiselled in the column of fame than that of Roosevelt.

M. Bleriot did the trick, but avows he will never do it again. Flying across the channel may be more hazardous than fighting a French duel.

MOROCCAN REBELLION.

Madrid, July 25.—Five thousand Spanish soldiers left Madrid this morning to assist in repelling the tribesmen of Morocco at Melilla. It is stated that at least 24,000 troops have been transported this week to Morocco and that a determined effort is to be made to bring the rebellion to a quick end.

Next Sunday the Ippoculus will stop one hour at Mayne, returning via the picturesque Pender canal. Don't miss viewing the wonderful scenery along this route. V. & S. train leaves at 9:45 a.m.

What Other People Think

AN OLD JUNK DEPOSITORY.

To the Editor:—I desire to call the attention of the civic authorities to the disgraceful condition of the sidewalk at the S. E. corner of Blanchard and Fort streets, where a favored dealer in second-hand goods is permitted to use the street as a storehouse for discarded and other worn-out articles. How this dealer, above all others, comes to be so favored, I do not know, but I do know that while other merchants are compelled to clean up their back premises, this particular merchant is allowed to use his front premises for storage purposes. I am sure that the practice is illegal—it is certainly disgusting. WALKABOUT.

BOWLING GREEN—CONCLUSION.

To the Editor:—It has lately been suggested that the bowling green should be bought from the Beacon Hill Bowling Green Co. at a valuation. The very suggestion would be seized on by the company and its members, and the city would have some legal right of possession. They have none. The company have nothing to sell. The park, green, club house, etc., are the property of the trustees of the park in trust for the public.

The very "resolution" which the Oliphant Co. consider their charter gives them nothing, and its very self is even unenforceable. The Mayor and others connected with the company and with the municipal council have declared that everyone has an undoubted right to play on the green and to use the water, etc., in the club house, to drink or cleanse themselves. At first sight this seems all right, but on inquiry it will be found that outsiders, i.e., non-members, wishing to play must first obtain a permit from the club, and carry them away when they have played, as outsiders are not allowed to store them in the sanctum-sanctorum, the house. It will be plainly seen that this company's resolution is a mere device to deprive the public of their undoubted rights and makes the Park Bowling Green Co. a private, arbitrary, noxious, close, selfish and unbecoming corporation. The house is a fixture.

The resolution passed by the parks board commissioners on October 19th, 1938, reads, in short, as follows: "That permission be granted to Messrs. Oliphant, Young, McGregor, et al, to create a bowling green on Beacon Hill park, on the understanding that this permission shall confer no exclusive privileges, and that it is granted subject to the pleasure of the public parks board. All work connected with the bowling green to be carried out under the supervision of the public parks board." There is no further mention of this permission or agreement in the official records of the proceedings of the parks board commissioners.

Please observe that the resolution merely gives permission to Messrs. Oliphant, McGregor et al "to create a bowling green, subject to the pleasure and under the supervision of the parks board." Messrs. Oliphant and Company having completed their creation, i.e., the bowling green, to the satisfaction of the parks board, have finished their permissive job or work; have done with it; and so the creation, i.e., the green, etc., belongs to the trustees of the park in trust for the public for ever.

The resolution further goes on to say that the permission to create the bowling green shall confer "no exclusive privileges," i.e., on the creators, viz., Messrs. Oliphant, McGregor, et al, and as they have no exclusive privileges they cannot exclude the public. It is plain that the bowling green, club house, etc., are the property of the public in general, the Oliphant Co. having no right whatever to make exclusive or indeed any regulations governing the public use of the bowling green, etc., it is without any.

It remains for the trustees of the public to do their duty and to issue regulations governing the use of the bowling green, house, etc., for the public in general, for no one wishes to see the public property injured. The bowling green and house coming under the rightful dominion of the public trustees of the park will make but little difference to the members of the club. They will be as free to play and use the house as anyone else, the only change being that all will have to play on an equal footing under the rules and regulations made by the public trustees of the park, instead of the unlawful ones made by the bowling club.

The company get all they bargained for, viz., nothing save permission to create a bowling green for the enjoyment of the public and the honor attached thereto. The members of the company get all the company had to give them, viz., nothing. The public, which includes the members, retain their rights and may exercise them subject to the rules and regulations made by the parks board. The trustees will be freed from a very embarrassing matter, and having done their duty will be in a proper condition to hand down to posterity for ever the park unadorned and free from entanglements, as it is their chartered duty to do. J. S. HELMCKEN.

Victoria, July 22nd, 1939.

WATER WASTE, ETC.

To the Editor: Would it not be a good idea for the city council to employ some High school boy to give the officials of the city's water department a little assistance in interpreting the rules and by-laws which these officials are required to observe in the discharge of their duties? That fines should be extorted from certain of our citizens under by-laws which exist only in the imagination of these officials is just about the limit. Is it indifference or stupidity or what is the reason that these officials have not made themselves acquainted with the rules they are required to enforce? This is not the only instance of mismanagement of the water department.

A schedule of rates which compels a householder to pay for 1,000 gallons of water monthly, when only 500 or 600 gallons are needed or used, is simply putting a premium upon waste, and the city cannot afford to tempt its citizens to waste water just now, whatever may be the case after we get the Goldstream or Sooke supply.

It is just possible that the city's fire department was not the only one that needed the improvement it recently received.

ROYALS BEATEN BY VANCOUVER TWELVE

Six Goals to One—A Dozen Penalties Inflicted in Game.

The possibility of Vancouver Lacrosse Club winning the Westminster-Vancouver lacrosse series this summer and with it the celebrated Minto cup may held by the Royals was emphasized Saturday at Westminster, where the Vancouver players defeated the Royals most decisively by six goals to one in a game before many thousand people and fought out in the roughest manner. That the champions and cup holders are disorganized was made evident by their reversal of form. This is the first time for four years that the Westminster team has been defeated on their own field. The absence of Dad Turnbull on the Royals was felt unmistakably, for although the Royals had their usual smooth stick handling and clever attack they found themselves up against the hardest defense they had met for years. The play was rough, there was hardly a man without a bump growing out of his body. The Westminster fans were sore at the defeat and not slow to show their feelings, consequently several fights occurred on the ground among spectators. Vancouver scored a few minutes of fairly rest for them. Twelve penalties were given. Vancouver has yet to win every game in front of them to get the Minto cup, and are encouraged by the falling off of the champion team on Saturday. The summary of the play was as follows:

First quarter—Vancouver, Lalonde, 3-2.

Second quarter—Westminster, C. Spring, 4-2; Vancouver, Murray, 2-5; Vancouver, Lalonde, 3 minutes; Vancouver, Allan, 4-3; Vancouver, Godfrey, 5 minutes.

Third quarter—No score.

PANTAGES NEW SHOW.

Another Excellent Programme for This Week From Lois Theatre, Seattle.

There have been some very good vaudeville programmes at the Pantages theatre in the past few weeks. Last week's bill was especially strong but the new list of attractions to appear to-day and during the rest of the week give promise of being the best for a long time, taking all of the acts into consideration.

Ansel and Dorian, premier hand balancers, are said to have no equals in America. Among the other attractions are: Charles sisters, the whistling songbirds who look pretty and wear artistic costumes; Rose Mayo and Leonard Rowe, comedy players in their latest creation, "Kitty's Letter"; Harry Delain, in character impersonations of "The Giddy-Old Maid"; Adele Rogers in a song with pictures; and a double set of the very latest comic motion pictures.

The new acts come direct from the Lois theatre, Seattle's beautiful new vaudeville house, and should therefore be of the best quality.

On Saturday there passed away at the Royal Jubilee hospital Peter Joseph Moran, aged 42. He was a native of Belfast, Ireland, and was a plumber by trade. He came to British Columbia several years ago. For some months he has been ill. He is survived by four sisters, Mrs. D. G. Cox, of 911 Fort street; Mrs. A. Galy, Vancouver; Mrs. J. Passey, Calgary, and Mrs. B. Kinniburgh, New York. The remains were removed to the chapel of the B. C. Funeral & Furnishing Company, and will repose there until to-morrow, when they will be conveyed to the residence of the deceased's sister, at 511 Fort street, from where the funeral will take place on Tuesday from the residence of Mrs. Cox at 215 and at 2.30 from the Roman Catholic cathedral.

Having listened to the evidence of three automobile drivers and a passenger for the defence, all of which agreed that the constable was wrong, Acting Magistrate Prior this morning preferred to believe the unimpeached testimony of the police constable in a case against R. Arnold, charged with "driving to the common danger" Hospital Day at the Oak Bay Junction. Arnold was defended by H. H. Shandley and fined $10.

QUALITY STREET WINS CAESARIAN

ROALTA BEAT HIS PREVIOUS RECORD.

Good Crowd Sees Stake Event
Run at the Willows
Track.

Quality Street, owned by W. Durker and ridden by McBride, one of the three registered jockeys, closing at 4 to 1 in company with the other stable entry. Saturday won the Caesarian handicap by half a length from Ketchell in 1:02, being 3-5 of a second slower for the five furlongs than the best track time.

Eight faced the starter for the principal race, with Eddie Graney favorite at 2 to 1 and the Durker stable, Quality Street and Electrowan, coupled next at 4 to 1. At the last moment yesterday Otranto, Irma Lee and Alarmed were added to the original five acceptances. When the official starter let them go, Quality Street jumped to the inside rail and Irma Lee, from the outside position went after the yellow jacket, and the two passed the judges together the first time. To the turn they were neck and neck, and Irma Lee held her position with less than a head between them down the back stretch. Into the straight she challenged the leader, but was all right and could not make the drive for the finish. In the last quarter distance, Irma Lee fell back from second position to seventh, not being in condition to stand the hard run. Ketchell and Eddie Graney ran into the positions behind the winner.

The three horse event, a mile and seventy yards, went to Roalta, which, with Monvina were equal favorites at 11 to 5, while Fantastic stood out prime choice at 6 to 5. Roalta was easily the best horse getting the foot at the barrier, where the horses were kept till the winner had a slight advantage of the other two, despite three opportunities to let them go equal. Roalta led all the way and, challenged by Fantastic at the finish, was able to stay the favorite off. Monvina took second position round but failed in challenging the winner, passed Humbrecht's horse and left it third. The race was run in the new record time of 1:45.

Lena Leach and Titus were both made favorites in the two five furlong events and justified the faith of the public. Lena Leach beat Cheers and Marvel P., and Titus beat Belle of Ironwood and F. E. Shaw. Titus' time was 1:02, being 1-5 second better for the five furlongs than that of Lena Leach. Margaret Randolph beat Frieze and Lord Rosington in the mile, and Redondo was away the best of the six furlong bunch. Emma G. and Gallinda filled the places. La Tante spelt her winning streak, as the field was too high class, but beat Barney Oldfield and Elizabeth Harwood.

EMPRESS ELEVEN TOO GOOD FOR NAVY MEN

Defeat Sailors by 30 Runs in
Two Innings
Match.

A two innings game between the Navy and Empress elevens was won Saturday afternoon by the hotel men by 30 runs.

The scores were: Empress, first innings 73, second 65; Navy team, first innings 48, second 60. The highest score of the match was made by Lieut. Laycock, who scored 41 by good all round cricket. Laycock made nine in the other innings. The second high score was Farnwell, of the Empress, who scored 36 in good shape, but failed to break his duck in the second innings. Bywell, of the Empress team, was the most consistent scorer of the afternoon, scoring 31 not out, and 17 in good steady cricket. The only other double figure man was Gafney with a dozen for the navy team. Bywell and Farnwell did the bowling for the Empress team, and Heycock, Mitchell and Gafney were the Navy bowlers.

The Seattle eleven, due here to play against the Albions, failed to turn up, and teams were drawn of the club members captained by Menzies and Scott. Menzies' eleven scored 124 against 61. Five men on the winning side made double figures—Gelland 25, Hilton 13, Menzies 24, Duncan not out 21 and Broadfoot 23. Spain was the only scorer to reach double figures for Scott's eleven, getting 21. Hilton's bowling was responsible for the downfall of the Scott eleven.

ABLE PREACHER AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Rev. Dr. Gordon Occupies Pulpit of Church Yesterday.

Rev. Dr. Gordon, of Montreal College, who is delivering a course of lectures at Westminster hall, Vancouver, during the summer season, preached in First Presbyterian church at both services yesterday.

Dr. Gordon is a very interesting speaker, with a wonderful skill in word painting, and an apparently inexhaustible supply of illustrations from the modern poets.

In introducing Professor Gordon to the congregation of the First Presbyterian church yesterday, Rev. Dr. Campbell spoke of the inauguration of Presbyterianism at the coast, which took place in what is now the First Presbyterian church on February 2, 1862.

For the morning service, Dr. Gordon took his text from 2nd Samuel, 23rd chapter and 15th verse: "On that one would give me drink of the water of the well of Bethlehem, which is by the gate."

In introducing his subject the speaker said that the simple story possessed a wonderful charm. It was as a glint of sunlight through a grey mist, an oasis in a desert, a bit of poetry in a book of prose, a tender romance in a prosaic life.

David was harassed by the Philistines. He had won a few strongholds but the enemy were in possession of Bethlehem, his boyhood's home, the place where he had tended his flocks, to the music of his harp and the tinkling of the cattle bells; he could see, in imagination at least, the old home where he had knelt at his mother's knee. He could see too the sacred well of Bethlehem, from which he had so often drawn the clear, sparkling water and he was seized with an irresistible longing to be a boy again, to break away from the sorrows and sins and failures and responsibilities of manhood, and get back to the joyous irresponsibility of childhood and boyhood.

He gave voice to all the pent up feelings of his heart in the despairing cry: "Oh that one would give me drink of the water of the well of Bethlehem which is by the gate!"

Immediately, three devoted warriors broke through the ranks of the enemy, and brought to their beloved leader the coveted water, in their helmets. David, however, could not drink of it but poured it out, an offering to the Lord. To him, with his poetic insight, it was not the clear, sparkling water he had so longed for, but the life's blood of his followers, and he could not drink it. Turning to the practical application of the story, Dr. Gordon said that as the years rolled on, we were all too prone to look back with wistful longing to the days of our childhood when we knew no sin; when heaven was just above the tree tops, and angels guarded our beds. We must, however, realize that although the tender grace of a day that was dead could never come back, the future held something far grander and better in store. The glories of the past were always blended with the blessings of the present.

The water David's warriors brought him was just as clear and cold and sparkling as it had been in the days of his youth, the difference was in himself. The passing years had brought him care and sorrow, but in the water in the helmets of his soldiers he saw the devotion which the years had likewise brought him, and to receive at their hands an offering like that was far, far removed from the childish pleasure derived from pastoral music, and wandering as a boy on his native hillsides.

The supreme lesson of life, Dr. Gordon said, was to learn that man's chief end was to glorify God. To the man who accepted that as his aim in life the passing years brought more than they took away. The rich golden grain was of more value to the farmer than the green shoot, the man was wiser and nobler than the boy; his heart was bigger, his brain more active. A woman was more gracious and beautiful than a girl, because she had learned life's lessons. The responsibilities of life were as sunlight and water to a plant. They made it grow and blossom. Childhood faith was very beautiful, but there was a grander thing; just as an oak, deeply rooted and fit to withstand the storms of centuries, was worthy of more admiration than a tender, swaying sapling. The faith of a man or woman had a firmer grip on things eternal than the untutored, untested faith of a child. The person of mature years knew with absolute certainty that high in the heavens, behind the clouds, God was on His throne and all was well with the world.

The speaker then likened the hosts of the Philistines to intoxicating pleasures which prevented men from drinking of the waters of the well of Bethlehem. Only a brave man could break through these hosts when once formed, but the result justified the effort, the risk of life if need be for the spiritual waters, typified by the waters of the well of Bethlehem were fed by the fountains of eternal life, which had their source in David's son, the Christ of Bethlehem.

ARMOUR FORCES

WHEAT PRICE DOWN
Weaker Cash Situation Feature of Chicago Market To-day.

Chicago, July 26.—Armour put another kink in the tail of the wheat bulls to-day by selling wheat, thereby forcing the July 26 wheat 12 cents under Saturday's prices, while other deliveries lost from 1c to 1½c a bushel. The start of the wheat market was extremely weak with July 26 lower at $1.07, Sept. 2c, at $1.04, Dec. 2c, at $1.02.

Fluctuations in the Chicago wheat pit were very wide, July moving from $1.03 to $1.09, while Sept. had a spread of 1c during the day's trading.

Weaker cash situation everywhere was one of the great faults of the wheat market to-day. Everyone seemingly had wheat to sell, and while some made a bluff at buying in order to secretly sell, there was no concerted action at holding.

Building permits have been issued to W. Dunford & Sons for two dwellings on Burnside road to cost $1,850 each, to C. Boniface for a house on Chapman street to cost $450 and to F. H. Stephenson for two houses on Cook street to cost $2,600 each, and to W. G. Gilliland for two houses on Pembroke street to cost $2,550 and $2,950.

Novelty Advertiser Southern California City at Fair To-day.

Seattle, July 26.—Stickpins made of lima beans, advertising the city of Ventura, Cal., were the novel souvenirs given away at the California building on the exposition grounds to-day by G. M. Sheridan, of Ventura. It was Santa Barbara, Ventura, San Luis Obispo and Paso Robles that at the fair, and a large number of visitors from California cities registered at the California state building. C. M. Merritt, representing Santa Barbara, distributed walnuts to visitors at the building.

To-morrow will be Southern California day, and the California commissioners will keep open house at their building all day.

WILL LOAD WHEAT

AT PUGET SOUND

Barques Osborne and Forteviot Fixed—Nile Coming Here.

Two of the largest sailing ships flying the British flag have been chartered to load wheat on Puget Sound. These are the barques Osborne and Forteviot, both belonging to the well-known Liverpool firm of MacVicar, Marshall & Co. The Forteviot is engaged by Balfour, Guthrie & Co., and the Osborne by Kerr, Gifford & Co. The square-riggers receive the usual rate of 27 shillings 6 pence from the Sound to the United Kingdom, says the 15-11 of Seattle.

The Osborne is now laid up at Quartermaster harbor, where she has been disengaged for many months. This vessel reached Puget Sound from Antofagasta on April 21st, 1908, just ten days too late to take advantage of a profitable grain charter. Since then, with a depressed market and low rates, the ship has been disengaged. Delayed on the west coast, where she discharged her last cargo, the Osborne was late in sailing in ballast for Puget Sound. The ship was also found after a long stay in tropical waters, and Capt. Williams made every effort to reach Port Townsend before his charter expired. So anxious was the owners to have the ship arrive that tugs were chartered to cruise off Cape Flattery and tow her in. However, fortune did not favor the vessel, and she came in safely, ten days too late. Balfour, Guthrie & Co., had the vessel chartered at that time. Capt. Williams is now master of the ship, Capt. Williams having retired.

The Forteviot is now at Santa Rosalia, Mexico, having arrived at that port from Hamburg early in June. It is expected that she will leave for Seattle in ballast within a few days. Both will be available for the opening of the export season. Registering 2,888 tons, the Osborne has a capacity of from 1,900 to 5,000 tons of cargo. The Forteviot registers 2,888 tons and can carry a like amount. Exporters frequently locate in chartering such large ships for grain because in shipping it to Great Britain fluctuation in the price of the cereal sometimes means a heavy loss and the greater the cargo the greater the risk. The British bark Crompton, 2,711 tons, of the same fleet, is also the disengaged fleet at Quartermaster harbor. This vessel has not yet been fixed, but may be, should the demand for spot tonnage continue. The bark Dunstaffnage, 3,129 tons, belonging to the same owners, is well known in Seattle, having discharged cargo here two years ago. The Dunstaffnage is now en route from Hamburg to Santa Rosalia.

Crop reports continue favorable and exporters are anticipating a yield as heavy as expected. Already some new crop wheat is on the way to tide-water. The crop is said to be from a week to ten days later than last year, and although the first grain ship of the season may be dispatched by September 20th, it will be October before the wheat begins to move offshore in quantities.

Balfour, Guthrie & Co. have chartered the British bark Nile, 2,079 tons, to freight general cargo to British Columbia ports, with stiffening to Puget Sound. The Nile has arrived at Ardrossan, Scotland, from the west coast, but it will likely be two months before she begins her passage to the North Pacific. She is not expected here before February or March. The ship is fixed at a lump sum, but her charter is only outward. However, she will retain sufficient cargo to stiffen her to Puget Sound, where her owners hope to get a return cargo of wheat.

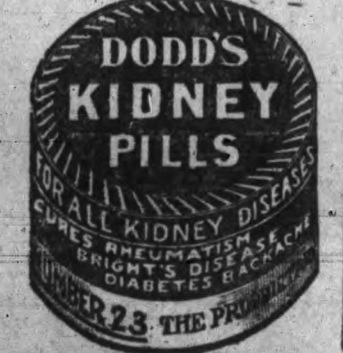

The French bark Charles Gounod sailed from Brest for Seattle on Tuesday, with general cargo, from Antwerp. This vessel is receiving an exceptionally low outward rate, but she is engaged for the return passage for grain at union freight. The Charles Gounod loaded grain on Puget Sound two years ago. There are seven other vessels idle in British Columbia and Puget Sound waters available for grain. These include the British barks Celticbush, Elmhurst, Haleswood, Haddon Hall and Senator and German ships Emille and Parpenbek. The Senator arrived in May 1908; the Emille in June, Haleswood in November and Haddon Hall in December. The others are more recent arrivals.

THE OLDEST FIRE ALARM.

The town of Caldwell, N. J., has the oldest fire alarm system in the United States and a move to replace it with more modern appliances has been successfully opposed.

When a fire breaks out the firemen are summoned by beating upon the hollow street poles that carry the trolley wires. When the first alarm is sounded others rush to the poles with clubs and soon the air resounds with noises that may be heard for miles through the valley. Then the locomotive whistles in the Erie railroad yards take up the chorus and the firemen quickly respond from the four corners of the town.

A town ordinance makes it a misdemeanor for any person to beat the trolley poles except in case of fire, and mischievous small boys are especially warned by their parents to refrain.

BLUE FUNNEL LINER

CALLS HERE FOR OIL

Three Thousand Barrels of Whale Product Being Loaded on Teucer.

Steamer Teucer of the Blue Funnel line is loading oil at the outer dock. Three thousand barrels of the whale product will be sent to Glasgow, a cargo valued at over $30,000. When this has been taken on the vessel will return to Puget Sound to complete her cargo, calling here again outward bound for the Orient and United Kingdom.

Every vessel of the Blue Funnel line has been taking consignments of oil since the commencement of the whaling season. As the outbound cargoes from other points have been light this has been a valuable addition to the cargoes of the big round-the-world steamers.

BOTTLE PICKED UP FROM HADDON HALL

Message Floated Around for Eight Months After Being Thrown Overboard.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon of November 15th, 1908, a seaman dropped a bottle from the British bark Haddon Hall, bound for Liverpool to H. J. Haddon, via Cape Horn, a bottle containing a message.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon of July 15th the bottle was picked up on the shore of Oahu, near Lale Settlement, by a Hawaiian named Logan. The message, which is somewhat discolored by water, but perfectly legible, reads as follows:

"Barque Haddon Hall, 'Sunday, November 15, 1908. 'Be the throw over at 3 p. m. 'At 1 noon—Lat. 29 deg. 47' N. Long. 132 deg. 09' W. 'One hundred and four days out from Montevideo. All well. Wind westerly and very light. 'Signed, J. H. SCOTT.

According to the Maritime Register the barque Haddon Hall, 1332 tons, commanded by Captain Fookes, sailed from Liverpool on April 2nd of last year and left Montevideo on August 3rd, arriving at Vancouver on December 14th, 1908, or just a month after the bottle was cast overboard, the object being to aid the collection of data as to the drift of ocean currents.

There were two cases of sudden death in North Devon churches on Sunday recently. Whilst conducting the evening service at Staunton, Rev. Joseph R. Hartill, the curate in charge, was taken ill, and passed away in a few minutes. Mrs. Elizabeth Tripe, of Taxistock, became unwell whilst attending a service at Barnstaple. Congregational church. She tried to walk out of the building, but collapsed and died.

TUG HOPE ON FIDDLE REEF

EXPECTED TO BE FLOATED TO-NIGHT

Little Steamer Went Ashore at Oak Bay During Night.

Tug Hope with a boom of logs in tow went ashore on Fiddle Reef during the night. She is still held fast, but at high water to-night it is expected she will float off. The cause of the stranding is laid to the cross currents that are so frequent in the waters off the point. The stranding of the boom in such waters makes it difficult to tell exactly what the results will be. To-day aid was sent, but it is not expected she will be pulled off until high tide near midnight. The tug belongs to J. Seward, of this city.

WHALING IS GOOD ON THE WEST COAST

Tees and Queen City in Port, and Leave To-morrow Night.

Steamers Tees and Queen City are in port this morning after their regular weekly trips to the west coast and Rivers Inlet respectively. The report received from the Sechart whaling station is that the whales are still being caught at a great rate. There is strong competition between the two stations as to which shall get the largest number of the leviathans. The result of this competition is that recently they refused to tell the results of the hunt. The Queen City brought word that the salmon are now running well at Rivers Inlet. The fishermen are getting from 75 to 100 fish to a boat.

MONEY WASTED AND SETTLERS NEGLECTED

Quatsino Has Impassable Trail While Government Does Unnecessary Work.

A correspondent writing from Quatsino tells of a deplorable condition of affairs for which the local government is held responsible in connection with the trails of that district. According to the letter the needs of the district are not being properly looked after, while money is being spent without stint on work that is not necessary. The letter is as follows:

"We here in Quatsino have a striking example by the powers that be how to spend money and not have much to show for it. The settlement runs a foot trail that is not passable in winter time except by wading in mud and water, ankle deep. The school house is situated almost in the middle of the settlement and the number of scholars attending is sixteen. In the past two years about six hundred dollars have been spent on this trail—practically nothing. When windfalls obstructed and bridges were carried away the heads of families whose children attended school turned out and repaired the road in order that the school should not close.

"Now this year an appropriation of $2,500 was made, and as soon as we heard that goodly sum was to be had we requested that we be allowed to select out road foreman and thus safeguard our own interest and make sure that the trail would be put in such shape as to make it passable. But our little 'Tin God' in Alberici paid no attention. Instead he selected a road foreman and gave instructions for a wagon road, a thing for which there is no earthly use at the present time. There is not a horse, mule or ox in the whole settlement, nor is there an acre of ground under cultivation in any one place. There is no hay nor grain of any kind raised and the families here located have all they can do to feed themselves, let alone feed horses for which at present they have no use. What we want of a wagon road or rather a piece of one, it will be up to the McBride government to explain. What we needed and wanted was a good graded foot trail, say about four feet wide. The length of the settlement trail is about five miles and the money expended in this way would have given us a passable trail from one end of the settlement to the other. Had there been any money left over we need other new foot trails, as there are a number of settlers without trails of any kind.

"Up at Colony Lake a floating landing or float has been constructed for the benefit, I suppose, of the trout fishermen, as there are no actual residents there with the exception of Mr. Brown. What was wanted was a trail along the lake to the upper end of it. The way the thing now stands, a 66-foot wagon road is being built running from nowhere to no place, and of absolutely no benefit to any one unless the road foreman intends to farm the right-of-way thus cleared. There is not a wagon or a vehicle of any kind in the settlement and we hardly need a 66-foot road to run a wheelbarrow on.

"The trail for this coming winter will be the same old story, the children having to wade through mud and slush as usual to reach the school house. Mr. McBride, it's up to you."

RAILWAYMAN WHO MAY SUCCEED HARRIMAN

L. F. Loree is One of the Youngest of Leading Magnates.

Among railroad men the country over Leonor F. Loree is universally known as "the man who made good at Johnston." His rapid rise to the presidency of several great railroad systems and to a secure place among the captains of industry has failed to overshadow that daring engineering feat. The first news of the Johnston flood was nowhere received with more consternation than in the railroad offices. Tracks, roadbeds, bridges had been swept away, and it was to the railroads that thousands looked for relief. An unknown division engineer, L. F. Loree, was called to be the most available man, was placed in command.

The young engineer's marvelous powers of endurance served him well. Throughout every hour of daylight he worked among his men on the tracks. When daylight failed him, he returned to his camp, and till the light turned, while Sundays were spent in clearing up his work. After that job Loree was jumped overnight from his position of division engineer to that of general manager—an advance unparalleled in railroad history.

Loree was born in Fulton City, Ill., and after passing through the public schools, entered Rutgers College. He entered the railroad service in 1877 as assistant on the engineering corps of the Pennsylvania railroad. Between 1879 and 1881 he worked as transit man on the engineering corps of the United States army. The following year was spent in surveying the route for the Mexican National railway. His engineering capacity for work in the field procured rapid advancement, and in the following year he became an engineer in the Chicago division of the Pennsylvania system, from which he rose to be engineer of maintenance of way, later superintendent of the Pittsburgh division and general manager of the division. He became a railroad president in 1902, and has been ever since, first at the head of the Baltimore and Ohio, then of the Rock Island and since 1907 of the Delaware and Hudson systems.

Loree now is a confirmed New Yorker, making his home at the Hotel House, and still devoting much of his energy and time to his railroad work. A member of many clubs, Loree is rarely seen in his except at the country clubs, whence he often escapes for a game of golf, his favorite diversion. A hurried sail to Europe and back has been his vacation each of the last few years. Still one of the youngest men prominent in railroad management, Loree is expected to attain to much greater power. It is known that he has the special confidence of E. H. Harriman, and it is believed that upon Loree's broad shoulders will some day rest the responsibility of the great system now under Harriman's control—Hampton's Magazine.

When you jump out of bed, jump for

New Drilling Plant. He had decided if possible to procure a new class-drilling plant for the improvement of the entrance to the harbor. The present plant was antiquated, and he fully realized this and would try to have it replaced. He realized that a fine line of steamers were plying here. They would continue the dredging work until a good channel had been made.

In regard to a breakwater, the minister said the cost would be over a million dollars. If the government was assured that the building of this would result in an increase of trade the work would be done. They must, however, be shown that the money would bring good returns in business. During the past few years the country had made great progress. He would not suggest that it was the result of Liberal rule, for he would not think of introducing politics at a gathering of this kind. During that time the revenue of the country had doubled itself.

VANCOUVER KIRMESS.

Enjoyable Function Given in Terminal
City in Horse-Show Building.

The Kirmess was the big social event of last week in Vancouver. It was opened on Thursday evening in the horse-show building, with Premier McBride and Mayor Douglas present, and large and brilliant audiences greeted every performance. All other attractions were for the time forgotten, and King Carnival reigned supreme.

The entertainment was given under the auspices of the Vancouver Athletes Club, which was assisted by various charitable organizations throughout the city, there being about five hundred members of the company in all.

The programme was a splendid pageant of light and color accompanied by the harmony of sound and the poetry of motion.

The crowned queen of the Kirmess,
Miss Ruth Douglas, wore a regal costume of cloth of gold over white satin, while from the shoulders hung a long court train of purple velvet. The royal circle included a Queen of Fairies, a Queen of the Butterflies, a Queen of Dancing, a Queen of Flowers and a King of Fairies, all of whom wore very beautiful and appropriate costumes.

Some of the special features of the Kirmess were a graceful dance, the Gainsborough sextette, the story of Captain John Smith, the Italian Romance, a number of songs, from Carmen, a pretty sewing song, and the dance of the flower and garland girls.

The silver spray ballet, in which 100 little girls, with little Miss Dorothy Lester as the tiny premiere danseuse, captured the hearts of many.

A visitor to the city at the week-end

was David Henderson, M. P. for Hal-following Toronto dispatch is interesting:

A rumor is in circulation that David Henderson, M. P. for Halton, was about to retire, and that D. D. Mann intended to resign vice-presidency of the Canadian Northern railway, and enter politics succeeding to Mr. Henderson's seat, Mann being a native of Halton.

"All rot" was Mr. Mann's summary comment. "I have never been asked and I have no desire to go in."

Queen Cup.—This is not, strictly

speaking, a beverage, but it is a delicate fruit concoction which will please

the most exacting hot weather palate.

Fill tall stemmed glasses half full with

fine pieces of oranges from which all

stringy pulp has been removed, some

thinly sliced bananas, cubes of pineapple and a strawberry. Cover with a tablespoon of honey syrup and a tea-

spoonful of lemon juice. Over this com-

pote of fruit heap pineapple ice or

marshmallow parfait and serve at once.

TIMELY RECIPES

Rhubarb and Orange Cooler.—This cooler is made by cooking tender ru-barb, without peeling it, in orange juice, instead of water. Add sugar to sweeten well. When done, strain and turn into a freezer. Pack in ice and salt, and as it freezes around the sides of the can stir it down into the softer part.
When like soft snow, serve in glasses with long-handled spoon. A few large chopped and seeded raisins cooked with the fruit will improve the flavor.

Delicious Acid Drink.—Mash one pint of ripe currants and the same quantity of red raspberries, and pour into a jelly
bag. Press out all the juice and strain it through a cheesecloth. To about three pints of water add the same amount of sugar, and boil ten minutes.
Cool and add to the fruit juice, and keep in a cool place until needed.

Fig Jelly.—Take one and one-half dozen figs, one cup liquor, one tablespoonful granulated gelatin, one-quarter cup water, one-half cup sugar, the juice of one lemon, one-half cup sherry.
Cook the figs in boiling water, which should just cover them. When the skins are tender, drain the figs from the liquid, strain the latter. There should be one cupful. Soak the gelatin in the cold water and dissolve it over hot water and add to the fig liquor; add sugar and stir until dissolved and the mixture is cool, then add the lemon juice and sherry. Strain again into a jelly bag, and set in a cool place to cool. Add one-third powdered sugar to one cup of whipped cream and one-fourth teaspoon orange or vanilla extract. Whip until stiff. When the jelly is cold, arrange the figs in the middle of jelly, and garnish with the whipped cream.

Cream Soda.—Take four pounds of coffee sugar, three pints of water,
whites of ten eggs, three nutmegs (grated), one ounce of gum arabic and twenty drops of lemon. By using other flavors you may make any kind of soda
you like. Mix all ingredients together and place over the fire. Stir well about half an hour. Remove from the fire, strain, and divide into two parts. In one part put eight ounces of bicarbonate of soda; into the other part six ounces of tartaric acid. Mix well and let it get cold. To use, pour three or four spoonfuls from each part into separate glasses, each a third full of water; stir each and pour together. This makes a nice glass of cream soda.

Ginger Punch.—Make a quart of ginger
tea, allowing a teaspoonful of best African ginger to a cup of boiling water. Allow it to infuse ten minutes, and then strain through double cheesecloth placed on a fine wire sieve. Add one cup of granulated sugar, and boil fifteen minutes; then add half a cupful of lemon juice, three-quarters of orange juice. Cool, and again strain. Place a block of ice in a punch bowl and pour the punch over it. Add one quart of good mineral water, a pint at a time, and serve at once. A quarter of a pound of preserved ginger, chopped fine, is added with the fruit juice.

Queen Cup.—This is not, strictly
speaking, a beverage, but it is a delicate fruit concoction which will please
the most exacting hot weather palate.
Fill tall stemmed glasses half full with
fine pieces of oranges from which all
stringy pulp has been removed, some
thinly sliced bananas, cubes of pineapple and a strawberry. Cover with a tablespoon of honey syrup and a tea-
spoonful of lemon juice. Over this com-
pote of fruit heap pineapple ice or
marshmallow parfait and serve at once.

PINKHAM
CURESAdded to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years
and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of the uterus,
and doctors did me
no good. I suffered dreadfully until I began taking your medicine. It has also helped other women to whom I have recommended it."

CLARK, Glanford Station, Ontario.

Gardner, Me.—"I was a great sufferer from a female disease. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but Lydia E.
Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured me in three months."

Mrs. S. A. WILLIAMS, R.F.D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Maine.

Because your case is a difficult one,
doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.
It is free and always helpful.

INVESTIGATING WRECK
AT NEW WESTMINSTER

Foreman of Jury Objects to Evidence Which is Not Pertinent.

New Westminster, July 24.—The coroner's court inquiring into the accident at the Fraser river bridge on June 19th sat till 10:30 p. m. yesterday, and adjourned till Tuesday for the examination of witnesses.

The chief witnesses yesterday were Thomas Gifford, superintendent of the bridge, and Paul Philip Corrigan, who was alone at the tower when the accident occurred, having a few minutes before relieved Signalmen Adamson.

Corrigan said he opened the draw span to allow the tug Dunsmuir through and soon after the whistles of the train attracted his attention.

The levers operating Nos. 7 and 8 signals were right, but that of 6 was half over, and after twice setting them to normal, he found he could not move that of No. 6, so ran down on the bridge toward the north end without flag.

Seeing the train coming on, he ran back to the centre of the draw span, secured a red flag and waved it. The train was then twenty feet away, and coming about fifteen miles an hour, as far as he could judge.

After the train passed him he knew something was wrong, and went forward to see what it was.

Mr. Gifford, not having been on duty when the accident happened, was only able to describe how he found the signals. He found the semaphore set against an approaching train from the south side, but a G. N. R. freight train had some years ago crossed the bridge with the signal against them without accident, though the switches were unlocked.

He believed the switch had been moved over from the bridge by someone before the express reached it.

During the evening Foreman George Gears was on the stand. He spoke of making arrangements for the G. N. R. trains to be flagged if necessary, and showed a man how to use the flag.

Several wordy discussions occurred during the progress of the inquest. Mr. MacNeill on one occasion had put in a written statement by a witness, Marshall, which Mr. McPhillips objected to being introduced.

Mr. Webster, foreman of the jury, observed: "This kind of evidence has been brought up for the first time, and Mr. MacNeill asserts there has been a grave charge made against him and he wants to know how otherwise he can investigate and find this out. We as business men cannot afford much time for this kind of thing, and we don't want to be here day after day doing nothing."

"I would like to say to the different counsel here that the same point has been given time after time, though different legal light has been put upon it. It has taken up a great deal of our time, which is not fair to the jury. All we want to know are facts which are pertinent to an inquiry before a coroner's jury."

Bag-oak consists of the trunks and branches of oak found in bogs and preserved by the antiseptic properties of peat. It is of a shining black color, and is used for ornamental furniture, brooches, etc.

PRODUCTION AT TRAIL
FOR YEAR OF JUNE 30

New Record Made for Consolidated Smelter and Refinery.

Nelson, B. C., July 26.—During the year ending June 30th, the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company's smelter at Trail produced gold, silver, copper and lead to the value of $5,506,000, a new record for the plant. The fact is the more noteworthy in view of the exceptionally low values of metals during the twelve months in question.

Many betterments have been carried out at the plant, including several new blast furnaces, much larger than those formerly used.

The total tonnage for the year was 247,000 tons, as against 205,556 for the previous year. In face of the market conditions the returns for the past year are $7,500 over the previous year, which was by a long way a record one.

One of the most gratifying features of the year's returns is the large output of the company's electrolytic refinery, which totalled $2,700,000, or nearly half the company's total product.

This figure, satisfactory though it is, would have been much larger were the capacity of the refinery such that it could have handled all the lead bullion produced by the smelter during the past three months. The company already has plans under way for largely increasing the capacity of the refinery.

When the necessity for sending any bullion out of the country for refining will be obviated and the company's production of pure gold, silver and lead greatly increased.

The British Columbia Copper Company will at once resume operations at its Greenwood mines and smelter, and some 400 men will be employed. The close down since May 1st was caused by the strike at the coal fields, and the consequent coke shortage, and other troubles now settled.

The ore shipments for the week and year are: Boundary, week, 22,729 tons; year, 760,351; Rossland, 4,729 and 129,728 tons; Slocan-Kootenay, 3,655 and 105,168 tons.

LIVER AND STOMACH
WRONG

INDIGESTION, BAD COLOR, PALE, FATIGUED.

Those Oppressed by Palpitation and Heart Pains Will Find Interesting Facts in This Article.

The following letter is printed with the hope that it will show a clear road to health to those who suffer the pangs of indigestion and weak stomach.

"I am anxious to send the message of hope far and wide to all who are in poor health, as I was a year ago," writes Mrs. Ernest P. Gomez, from Meriden. "For years I have had a weak stomach and have experienced all the distress caused by indigestion. I may say that the heart pains, watery risings, pressure of gas from fermentation at times almost drove me wild. For a time I could scarcely eat a mouthful without causing myself endless misery; I could not sleep well, my color was fearful, dark circles under my eyes, bad dreams, etc."

"As a last hope I was persuaded to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butterbur. As I persevered with this treatment my appetite gradually returned, and I began to relish my meals. My strength slowly returned, the headache and chest pains grew less severe, and at last I began to look my old self again. Dr. Hamilton's Pills cured me, and I use them occasionally still because I find as a system regulator and health-supporter no medicine is equal to them."

The same medicine that so wonderfully restored Mrs. Gomez will also cure you, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00. Beware of substitutes. By mail from The Cattaraugus Company, Kingston, Ont.

New York, July 26.—"Habitual aviators," by a letter of instruction issued to the agents of the Travelers' Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., must join the ranks of automobile racers and others whom the insurance companies decline to accept as risks.

COLWOOD HOPES FOR NEW ROAD

RESIDENTS SANGUINE

THAT IT IS COMING

Proposed Route Would Be Great Convenience to Settlers.

Through the courtesy of H. Dallas Helmcken, K.C., representatives of the local press were given an opportunity on Saturday afternoon of visiting the proposed route of a road which will serve a number of residents in Metchoh and be a favorite pleasure route for visitors and residents of the city. For a long time the residents of Colwood and Metchoh and Colwood have been pressing for a shorter route to Victoria. A ferry by way of Esquimalt has been advocated, and has from time to time being pressed upon the local government. The residents of the district have been well backed up in this by their representative, John Jardine, M.P.P., and in H. Dallas Helmcken they have had a strong advocate also.

Recently Hon. Thomas Taylor was taken over the proposed route, and his sympathy with the scheme has been enlisted. It is believed, so that the Colwood Development League is now feeling hopeful that the work will be accomplished.

The proposal is to have the wharf at the foot of the Belmont road improved and a ferry, preferably one that would carry horses and carriages, provided to cross from Esquimalt. Right in rear of the government property surrounding Red Hill port an easy route is obtainable for a new road to the Esquimalt lagoon. The distance only 1,000 feet. In order to reach the narrowest opening to the lagoon permission would have to be obtained to build the road through a portion of the government property; an easily constructed bridge would land the roadway on the spit, where only a top dressing for the natural gravel road would be necessary. For about a mile and a quarter along the spit travellers would have a most charming view. Seaward they would look out over the Royal Roads to Esquimalt and Victoria and down to Race Rocks. On the other side the lagoon lies, with the palatial home which Hon. James Dunsinuir is building in full view. The well cultivated farm of George Heatherbell also lies in full view, and a most delightful picture is presented.

Another quarter of a mile of road on the boundary line between the property of Mr. Heatherbell and that of Mrs. Harris, formerly the McCallum home, leads to the existing highway. The two property-holders are willing to give the land necessary for the road. Hon. Mr. Taylor has already given it into the hands of the engineers to report on the cost of the undertaking, and is said to be favorably inclined to the proposition. It would give a vast area a quick route to Victoria. At present although within easy sight of the city, and only about three or four miles from it by the route proposed the residents have to make a trip of about ten miles to get to the city by the road. From a scenic standpoint also the road would be an ideal one.

On Saturday the guests of Mr. Helmcken were given every opportunity to see the districts of Happy Valley, Colwood, etc. A delightful half hour was spent at Mr. Helmcken's ideal summer home at Rose Bank. At the Belmont wharf George Heatherbell met the party and his boats and launch were placed at their disposal on the lagoon. A visit was paid to the hospitable home of Mr. Heatherbell, who is the president of the Colwood Development League, and a bountiful repast provided by the host for the day was partaken of, after which the well cultivated farm of Mr. Heatherbell was inspected. From there to beyond Albert Head the party were taken by Dr. A. T. Watt, of the William Head quarantine station, who takes such a deep interest in the Development League. A landing was made at the foot of the new road which is being opened from the William Head road to the shore. It is hoped eventually to have a wharf erected there so that produce may be shipped by water to Victoria, only a distance of about six miles, thus avoiding the sixteen miles of road now required. This road, built on land given by Mr. Carlin and Dr. O. M. Jones, is the only public highway to the sea shore from the main road from Belmont to beyond William Head. It is being cut through to the Happy Valley road also.

The return trip to the city was made by auto through the delightful district.

Get a Refrigerator To-day

Priced from $12

WHY put up with the disappointments and the expense of spoiled eatables when the purchase of a refrigerator would eliminate these Summer troubles? Don't let the cost prevent you from owning one—they soon pay for themselves.

Ours are little priced and the most economical to purchase because of their light ice consumption. The refrigerator that "eats" ice is dear at any price, so don't let a dollar or two difference in cost influence you into purchasing an inferior kind. We are sole Victoria agents for the famous McCray make and for the leading Canadian make. We have refrigerators priced from $12

Cut Glass

"LIBBEY," of course, is the recognized leader in the cut glass world—the standard by which all others are judged. Here is a splendid value in Libbey cut glass rose bowls—our 8-inch bowl with rich, deep cutting, one of the best of many excellent patterns made by this house. Priced at $7.50
—first floor.

C. Q. M. S. Hatcher, Fifth Regiment, with 64 in the Victoria corporation cup contest, was equal to the winner, but made his best score at the shorter range of the two, whereas the winner reversed the figures and scored better at the long range.

Gunner McDougall is now first waiting man on the Ottawa team. The markers and register keepers were supplied by the barracks at Work Point, and were entirely satisfactory. They met with all round approval. The men returned yesterday afternoon. There was considerable complaint about the camping facilities at Richmond ranges. The men claim the place is entirely unsuited for a camp, and the water supply has to be imported in barrels.

MEDICAL MARVELS IN CHINA. Barber, Doctor and Dentist Form a Body Triumvirate.

It is the custom for a Chinaman to visit his barber every week to have a general overhauling. First, the head and face are shaved; second, the ears are scraped and cleaned with a small brush made of duck's hair; third, the upper and lower eyelids are scraped with a dull edged knife, all granulations being smoothed away, and then an application is made with a duck's hair brush of salt solution. This is the reason why you will find so much blindness in China. They take no antiseptic measures whatever. All instruments are held in the operator's mouth during the process of operation. Finally the patient's back is massaged, and after paying a fee of three cents and no tip he leaves the shop, feeling clean outside, but now must consult his regular physician.

After going through the usual examination, which is a form of military inspection, the doctor diagnoses the case and treats it unless a devil happens to jump down the patient's throat. If this has happened the doctor can do the patient no good until he promises to set off one hundred firecrackers and to make a daily visit to the Joss house. This done he receives the usual pills for those fabled by the devil.

These pills may consist of spotted rhinoceros horn, said to be a wonderful cure for intestinal troubles. The spotted rhinoceros horns come from southern China, and in the market at Singapore a single specimen will bring $25. Tiger bones when ground to a powder and mixed with Chinese wine make a great blood tonic which is used by all classes of Chinamen in northern China. The recipe is held by a firm in Shanghai that has become very wealthy by the sale of this tonic.

Old deer horns are boiled down to make the medicinal glue which binds the fifty ingredients composing the average Chinese pills. As in these you may get anything from a pinch of gunpowder to powdered cobra tail dust, it is not the fault of Wong-Yik-Chee if just the right kind of specific escapes the patient. Equal in medicinal efficacy to the above are three high grade tiger remedies, the eyeball, liver and blood. As may be imagined tiger eyeball, the genuine article, can be prescribed for only the exceedingly wealthy Chinese. Similarly the liver when dried and reduced to a powder is worth its weight in gold all over China. Tiger blood when evaporated to a solid at a temperature of a hundred and ten degrees and taken as a powder is believed by Asiatics to transform a craven into a hero.

After the patient has made the rounds of the barber and travelling physician he now looks up his dentist, whom he will find on any street corner in all large Chinese cities. You are greatly impressed by the seriousness of this gentleman, who is always reading and thinking of his collection of some two thousand teeth on a table and a few bottles of some secret drugs which upon inquiries a Chinese interpreter told a visitor contained the moisture of the inner side of an old cod's which was collected after being buried some ten years. A dentist in China is called a "boxer" by all Chinamen, for he is supposed to have great strength in his arms and hands, and also some great magic power.—Medical Record.
